The doctor advised him to remain quiet for a day or two, but Mr. Wilson d-clared that day or two, but Mr. Wilson declared that the sooner he was in a warm climate, the sooner he would recover, and continued on his journey to Mexico. Dr. Evans said:

"Mr. Wilson's illness is never dangerous, though it might be aggravated into something serious by neglect to take a needed rest in the mild climate of Mexico, where his trouble will quickly yield to the thanged condition."

INDIA AND SILVER.

LONDON, Feb. 9.-The Financial News commenting upon the silver situation, says that even the Indian government must see that if it persist in its currency policy that ruin to the commerce and credit of India will follow. The closing of the mints was a big blunder. The small quantity of bills soid at the end of the exquantity of bills sold at the end of the export season implies, if continued, that England's credit will have to be employed to avert the barkruptcy of India. "The spinners of Lancashire are dismayed because the Indian council muddled the matter of allotment by shilly shallying with regard to the minimum price. The folly of the experiment is clearly obvious. The mints were closed without purpose. If an import duty on cotton goods figures in the next Indian budget, the Lancashire demand will force an international settlement of the question."

is Barely Enough Trading to Make a Market and the Usually Active Stocks Sink Out of Sight-The Bond Issue Doing But Little good -- Bradstreet's and!Dun's Full Report.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9,-The Stock market i New York, Feb. 2, The Stock market is suffering from general lassitude, with general hesitation upward and downward. There seems to be no settled plan of action and reg-ularity of movements. While one act of stocks advances, another is going down. To-day's trading, if Sugar and St. Paul be ex-cluded, was barely sufficient to make a market, and some of the smally active stocks were scarcely noticeable in the dealings. At the opening, the market was firm The railway and miscellaneous bond marks was strong all day.

TRADE NOT FAVORABLE. Bradstreet's Review Gives the Reason for the Depression.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Bradstreet's tomorro unfavorable features in general me The unfavorable features in general mer-chandiss lines are conspicuous in the slow wool market, following the spurt given sales of that staple, particularly at Boston, in the preceding two weeks, when the quantity sold exceeded 7. 000,000 pounds, and in the appearance of un-seasonable weather in the south and west, and reports from Baltimore that general trade for February opens disappointingly, results being smaller than expected. There are forty resump tions of important industrial establishment this week, contrasted with announcements of the shutting down of only six similar concerns "An easier wool market at home, emphasize by a weaker market at London, may be con trasted with the fair jobbing movements in gen-eral dry goods among leading houses at easters centers, which report the volume of trade fo centers, which report the volume of traue of January fair, notwithstanding sales were in small lots. A favorable surprise is found in the results of the public sale of home and foreign silks at New York, the prices paid, instead of resulting in a loss as predicted, furnishing a fair margin of profit, and pointing to the willingness of dealers to replayibly stocks in advance of immargin of profit, and pointing to the willingness of dealers to replenish stocks in advance of immediate demands. There is again also a movement of men's wear, woolens from eastern countries, and the increased demand for steel billets at Pittsburg and at Chicago is such that prices are nearly, if not quite $1 a ton higher, and more than $4,000 tons of steel have been contracted for. The demand for rods, wire and nails has increased as well, and some mills have refused further orders at current prices. Sales of s uthern pig iron have been increased at the west.

Bradstreet's Report Sums up the Week on Wall Street.

New York, Feb. 9.—Tomorrow Bradstreet's financial report will speak of the futures of the past week in Wall street as having apparently sad the liability of the market to respond to influences which under ordinary circum-stances would create decided movements in values. Developments of great importance, however, have not transpired, and the market has simply retained its inert and indifferent at-titude. The decline in wheat and siver, though tinde. The decline in wheat and siver, though unparalled in their severity, have been practically disregarded. The speculative interests, it is true, have taken a very unfavorable view of the effects of the former movement upon the fortunes of western railroads, and it might also be added that professional bears and room traders endeavor to take advantage of circumstances by selling the granger stocks and trunk line shares as well. The operations were, however, on a limited scale, and seemed to have no other effect that to increase the already extensive short interest in the market. The noteworthy fact regarding the speculative situation is that despite the restricted and discriminating demand for investment securities, and lack of public or European interest in speculation, there is little or no pressure to sall stocks, except that originating with the professional bears themselves. The latter consequently, though disposed to put out short lines, seem to discover that such activity simply results in a dangerous augmentation of their outstanding contracts. A movement in Chicago Gas was due to a legal movement upon the corporations constituting that organization. Europe has taken no interest, though a little buying of Eric came from that quarter, on the report of an adjustment of objections to the re-organization plan unparalled in their severity, have been practi

Too Rapid for That Knight of the Cue, and Incidentally Breaking All Records for the Fourteen-Inch Balk Line

Game, Anchor

Barred.

BOSTON, Feb. 9.—Billiardist Shaefer took revenge tonight for the ignominious de-feat be suffered at the hands of Slosson on Wednesday evening in the triangular tournament at Hempstead hall, by show-ing a play that was altogether too fast for Napoleou Ives, beating him 600 to 402, and incidentally breaking all records for the incidentally breaking all records for the 14-inch balk line game, anchor barred, rolling up the splendid total of 271 in a single inning. The previous record (203) was made by Ives at Chicago.

The game tonight was by all odds the finest exhibition of scientific play ever seen in this city, if not in the country. Schneffer's work was very erratic but his two long runs of 271 and 125 were marvels of steady nursing and position play, occasionally varied by a brilliant round-thetable shot or a long drive for a gather. Ives' play was at first rather unsteady, out after Schneffer had accomplished his record backing feat, the boy settled down, and it looked at one time as if he might pull out the game, especially was made by Ives at Chicago. down, and it looked at one time as if he might pull out the game, especially as the Wizard played in exceedingly bad shape for four or five innings, but Schaeffer soon rallied and rushed things to the end. At 8 o'clock the two experts pulled out their cues amidst applause. Schaeffer won the bank and run off, nursing the thirteenth shoot across the table for a single cushion.

Ives opened his portion of the proceedings with a goose-egg, also on a cross-table

In this inning, Ives broke the ice by a

At 9:10 o'clock the Wizard seemed balked by a difficult line-up of the balks, but he with the table, part of which will be the seemed balked by a difficult line-up of the balks, but he he will also be a professional race.

At 9:10 o'clock the Wizard seemed balked by a difficult line-up of the balls, but he overcame the difficulty by a beautiful by a beautiful masse. At 10:25 o'clock, he missed a frozen masse by moving the wrong ball. Ives made a run of 17. Then Schaeffer began the run which now stands as the record. His tactics were the same as before, balk-line nursing being the feature.

as before, balk-line nursing being the feature.

At 1:50 the spectators began to wake up and murmured "record." The Wizard kept up his work steadily with faultless position play. As he neared 200 the excitement grew intense. Most of the onlookers knew that I ves' 203 was the highest mark with the anchor barred. Just before the 200 point, the three bails rolled together in an obstinate straight line. Shaefer electrified the crowd with a quick and brilliant four-cushion shot around the table. As the 203 point was reached and passed, a shout arose that was full of enthusiasm and the expectation of more. On went and the expectation of more. On went the Wizard, clicking away till 271 was reached, and another record made. Here he missed on a single cushion.

The next four innings resulted in two

The next four innings resulted in two singles and two gooseggs for Schaefer, but Ives railied brilliantly and rolled up 68, 144, 38 and 47. His friends began to hope, but his efforts were too late in the evening, for Jake played steadily and carefully and finished the game in the eighteenth inning with a run of 54.

Pugilism at Perry. PERRY, O. T., Feb. 9.—[Special.]—An epidemic of prize-fights will doubtless be the next thing to attract attention in this city. Since the Davis-Fitzpatrick fight, which took place a few days ago, the subject of prize-fight has been, to a great extent, the theme of conversation. questions pertaining to appearance in the questions pertaining to appearance in the arens, the etiquette of the place, the "points" of the aspirants, the qualities of favories, etc., are alike much discussed. Of course it could not be possible that all this talk could take place without resulting in some defluite proposition for something good in a fistic way. The pubsomething good in a fistic way. The public is now gratified by another opportunity to witness the sight of blood, in a proposed match between Mr. E. Jackson of Wichita, and Mr. William Horton of Hutchinson, Kan. The battle will take place in this city on Feb. 19, next, under the management of Lou Bonnett of Arkansas City, better known as Cyclone Ben. The match will take place in a large building immediately south of the Midway saloon on Sixth street, where preparations for the contest have been already begun. As one of the parties is well known to the sports of this city, and is believed to be a good man, considerable Perry money is being placed on the fight.

The Pumps Worked for Three Days Without intermission to Prevent the Craft From Going to the Buttom-The Captain Incurs the Enmity of Those on Board the Ship by His Arbitrary Actions - General Notes.

LIMERICE, Feb. 9.—Mr. J. Copeland, a saloon passenger on board the Allen line steamship Corean, which recently put into Kilrush in a disabled condition, and who Jack Crowley and B. C. Appling will go at each other for fifteen rounds at Guthrie tonight. Kirush in a disabled condition, and who is said to be the only passenger allowed to go ashore, in an interview, complains of Captain Mann's refusal to allow the passengers to land. The passengers, Mr. Copeland says, protested, but the only reply they got was that they were on board for the voyage, and not for pleasure. Mr. Copeland added that the steerage passengers came into the saloon to obtain signatures for a board of trade survey, and claiming damages. According to Mr. Copeland, these passengers were ordered out of the saloon before they could secure the names they desired. If Corbett and Jackson fight in England Billy Edwards will act as referee. Copeland, these passengers were ordered out of the saloon before they could secure the names they desired.

Describing the voyage from Clyde, Mr. Copeland said that the sea was rough, and a leak was discovered in the Corean when she was about 500 miles out. Eventually there were five icet of water in the engine room and ten feet in the stock room. The passengers and crew, he also said, had the greatest difficulty in keeping the water down. The passengers worked twenty four hours a day for three days, working in gauge at the pumps. Mr. Copeland complained that the passengers did more than their share of the work at the pumps. When the steamer arrived at Kritusa, he said, he wished to land, saying that he would hold the company hable for the losses and delay which he had incurred. Captain Mann, said, Mr. Copeland, mistered upon his signing an agreement forfeiting his passenge money and other claims, but eventually Mr. Copeland got ashore on a doctor's certificate.

The Corean sailed from Glasgow for New York on Jan. 22, and put back on Feb. 2 to Kiitush. She sailed again or Feb. 3.
